CHARLES DAVIS WINS RING IN FIRST-EVER WSOP CASH

Houston's Davis wins Event #7 and $15,328 in first live-tourney payday

Charles Davis, a 23-year-old cash-game and online player currently living in Houston, Texas, found his first-ever live-tournament payday to be a memorable one, as he earned $15,328 and the winner's gold ring in Event #7 at Horseshoe Tunica, $400 No-Limit Hold'em (1 Day)

Davis only made the trip to Tunica after being convinced to come along by another Houston-area player, and in his first days, he played more cash games, and ran bad. "Honestly, I had a bad run playing cash this weekend and I was leaving the casino. I was kind of tilted, and then I bought into the morning satellite. I won the satellite, and then I just ran it up all day."

Davis had no immediate plans for the perhaps-unexpected bankroll boost, except that he's going to try many more live poker tourneys. He's also now planning a trip to this summer's World Series of Poker, where a mix of both cash-game and tourney action is likely to be on his personal slate of events.
