CORKY STOTT COMES AWAY WITH 1ST GOLD RING

Nebraska native grabs gold in first ring event of the Council Bluffs series.

Corky Stott came away with his first World Series of Poker gold ring on Friday after taking down the first event of the Horseshoe Council Bluffs Circuit series. Event #1: $250 No-Limit Hold'em drew a field of 134 entries and took two days to reach a conclusion.

William Reynolds, chip leader at the end of Day 1, was Stott's final opponent. Stott began heads-up action with about a 2:1 chip lead. That ratio did reverse toward Reynolds favor at one point. However, Stott quickly retook the lead and soon after scooped the final pot.

Along with a piece of WSOP gold, Stott banked $7,506, and 50 Casino Championship points. It was a solid score for the 50-year-old who is fairly new to the game of poker.

"I didn't start playing poker until probably six years ago," mentioned Stott.

The Nebraska native's background consists of a four-year stint as an Assistant Golf Professional with The Pines Country Club. He now works as a Senior Sales Executive and is married with children.

"Work, home, and church, and then a little poker every once in a while," Stott said, touching on his routine. "I'm lucky to come over here to Council Bluffs twice a month, but when the WSOP comes in, Circuit events, I try and get at least one of those."

Stott made it count when it came to his recent Circuit opportunity. He plans to return next weekend for some more tournament poker action.
