

2023 WSOP Player of the Year

A points calculator will be available on the WSOP website, so that players can see an approximation for how many points they'll receive for any given event, based on the number of total entries and finishing place. Points will also be shown on the individual event results and prize pool tabs.

The formula is loosely based on the highly successful point system that has been used on the WSOP Circuit for many years. That scale will be used for each bracelet event, with modifiers based on the buy-in amount and number of entries.

Other key information:

- Dates and Qualifying events:

The 2023 Player of the Year race will only include all open bracelet events of the 2023 WSOP at the Paris Las Vegas Hotel and Casino and Horseshoe Las Vegas (May 30 – July 18) including the NV/NJ online bracelet events only

- Heads-Up and Shootout events:

Players eliminated in the same round (e.g. fifth through eighth place in a heads-up event, or all players eliminated on Day 2 of a shootout), will all receive the same points. The points awarded for those places will be the average of the points those places would have earned in a standard event.

- Multi-flight events featuring Day 1 payouts:

Some events (e.g. The Closer) offer the opportunity to cash more than once. However, a player will only earn POY points once for each event, and the points earned will be based on the position in the final results.

- Exclusions:

The following NLH events will not count toward the player of the year*:

- Event #1: $500 Casino Employees No-Limit Hold'em
- Event #48: $1,000 Seniors No-Limit Hold'em
- Event #51: $1,000 Tag Team No-Limit Hold'em
- Event #61: $1,000 Super Seniors No-Limit Hold'em
- Event #67: $1,000/$10,000 Ladies Event

- Leaderboard

Click here for the 2023 Player-of-the-Year Leaderboard, updated each day.

- Winner Prizes:

- 2024 WSOP Main Event seat
- Unique trophy
- Player of the Year banner at Paris/Horseshoe