RON BROWN WINS FIRST CIRCUIT RING IN EVENT 4

A hobby turned into a dream come true for retired player from Idaho

Ron Brown traveled to Thunder Valley for the first time to chase a ring with his friend Patrick and his dream was realized in Event 4. Brown defeated his opponent quickly heads-up and locked up $12,958 along with his first ever Circuit ring.

When asked about how he got into poker Brown said, "I've been playing poker my whole life. When I retired I took it up as a hobby and I decided if I wanted to play, I have to get good enough so I don't have to put in lots of money. So, there we go!" Brown said he plays a lot and has read a lot of books. "I've read maybe 20 poker books, and I play the World Series all the time." Brown was going to leave town on Thursday, but has decided to stay to chase the Casino Champion race now that he has won an event.
