ADAM DUNKLE ROUTS FIELD IN 1-DAY NLHE EVENT #3

Clovis, CA's Grant Dunkle wins first career Circuit ring, logs second big cash of calendar day

It's been a mighty Monday for Clovis, CA's Adam Dunkle, a 45-year-old general contractor and semi-pro poker player. Barely 16 hours after logging the largest cash of his WSOP career, Dunkle returned on short sleep to Circuit Thunder Valley, where he ran roughshod over the late stages of Event #3, $400 No-Limit Hold'em Single-Entry to earn $10,197 and his first Circuit ring.

One might think that a $29,940 cash and fourth-place showing in Event #1, the massive, 1,522-player "The Opener", might have earned Dunkle a day of rest. Instead, Dunkle made the most of his poker vacation, taking a big lead midway through the event, carrying that lead to the final table, then continuing to send player after player to the rail.

For Dunkle, a married father of father, it's called making the most of his available poker hours. Right now that means this semi-pro player is spending virtually every hour possible playing in Circuit events at Thunder Valley. The win pushed Dunkle into the Casino Champion lead early in this series, and he plans on playing as many events as he can through the rest of the series.
