DAN O'BRIEN WINS 1ST CIRCUIT RING IN LAKE TAHOE

O'Brien came in 2nd place just 24 hours ago and came back to finish the job

Out of a field of 205 entries in the 6-Handed event, Dan O'Brien was the last player standing. He earned $16,543 for his win, along with his first ever World Series of Poker Circuit ring. Not only did he top his second place finish in yesterday's event, but he also denied Dustin Fox his third ring in the very same event for what would have been the third year in a row.

"It's sick. I actually forgot that I was getting a ring. It's honestly really great to play with Dustin heads up," smiled O'Brien. "I haven't been playing as much poker, but I'm playing local stuff. I'm not traveling. This is a mile away, and it's cool. Honestly, I'm really excited about this. It's a really fantastic feeling."

O'Brien has amassed almost $3.5 million in live recorded earnings across his career, and is also an avid cash game player.
