JOEY FABRE WINS THE POT-LIMIT OMAHA EVENT

Recreational player from Florence books his first ever tournament win at Cherokee

After a hard-fought battle, Joey Fabre is the winner in Event #6: $600 Pot-Limit Omaha for $33,387 and his first ever tournament win. "It feels good," said Fabre. "I just ran good early and that was it, I guess." This was far from his biggest cash, as he went deep in the 2018 World Series of Poker Main Event, finishing in 72nd place for $108,745.

Fabre is a recreational poker player with three daughters and hails from Florence, Kentucky. Most of his scores are from playing No-Limit Hold'em, but his first win comes from playing with four cards. "I play Hold'em and PLO – tournaments and cash. My first time playing (pot-limit Omaha) I won, so I just played it a little bit here and there," explained Fabre.
