ANDREW WISDOM WINS 2ND HIGH ROLLER TITLE

California Poker Pro captures second gold ring in $3,250 ring event.

Andrew Wisdom captured his second High Roller title on Wednesday at the World Series of Poker Circuit in Bell Gardens, California.

The 25-year-old Poker Pro, now with two gold rings to his name, won his first High Roller title in 2017. Not to mention, the following year, he finished as runner-up in the High Roller. And, all these instances transpired at Bicycle Casino Circuit series.

So, for the third year in a row, Wisdom made his way to the final two in the most expensive Circuit tournament at The Bike. His recent victory took him through a field of 83 entries.

A pivotal hand occurred during four-handed play. Wisdom faced off against two-time gold ring winner Mike Eskandari. After turning the nut straight, Wisdom snap called a check-raise shove from Eskandari who was drawing dead with top pair.

The hand catapulted Wisdom to a huge chip advantage. Holding nearly two-thirds of the chips in play, Wisdom coasted to heads-up action. Tash Jadhvani put up a good fight but could not overcome Wisdom's lead.

With his second High Roller triumph, Wisdom was awarded $75,390. The Californian now has $236,526 in WSOP earnings.
