LOUIE COHEN WINS 1ST CIRCUIT RING AT THE BIKE

Attorney from Columbia, MO wins first ever tournament in Event #1

After almost 10 hours of play, Louie Cohen is the winner of Event #1: $400 No-Limit Hold'em Turbo for $13,545 and his first ever World Series of Poker Circuit ring. This is also Cohen's first career tournament win, but far from his biggest cash. "It's great. I don't play too many tournaments, but I had an opportunity to come out to LA this weekend and play. I knew the field wouldn't be too large, but it would be a decent chance to win a ring," explained Cohen.

The attorney from Columbia, MO defeated a worthy opponent in two-time WSOP Circuit champion Massoud Eskandari. This is a hobby for Cohen, but he has been around games for the majority of his life. "I grew up playing all sorts of card games but never played poker in my life until I saw Rounders. I was like, 'Oh my God I gotta learn how to play that game'," said Cohen.

"I went out and I bought some books. David Sklansky I think were the books. I played at a bunch of river boat casinos and then learned how to play." Cohen's earnings are closing in on $250,000, with his biggest cash being over $80,000 back in 2007.
