HARRY ARUTYUNYAN WINS 4TH CIRCUIT RING

Local grinder and businessman wins another ring, closing in on $1.5M in earnings

Harry Arutyunyan has taken down Event #4: $400 Omaha 8 or Better at The Bicycle Casino for $8,700, topping a field of 88 entries in this two-day event. This is his fourth career World Series of Poker Circuit ring, bringing his total earnings close to $1.5 million.

“It feels great! Especially in a mixed game,” smiled Arutyunyan. Over the seasons, it has become clear that many players have become attached to chasing rings and trophies, and that is no different for Arutyunyan. “Right after Cherokee. It was right after that where I started to go after the rings. Before that I was just playing for fun. Even right now I play for fun,” he explained.

The four-time Circuit champion started playing more poker because of his friends, and has become more involved in the game over the years but it is still a hobby for him. “I have businesses. I run water companies – but poker is for fun. Now, it’s just a pack of us. We’ve got a lot of rings,” laughed Arutyunyan.
