BRAXTON MOORE WINS 1ST WSOP CIRCUIT RING AT HARRAH'S CHEROKEE

Braxton Moore secures in his first ever WSOP event.

Not too many people get to say they won a Circuit ring in their first ever WSOP event, but Braxton Moore has that honor.

The 25-year-old Tennessee native traveled to Harrah's Cherokee Monday afternoon with the plan on playing Event #7: $400 Pot-Limit Omaha.

Moore made it just in time and was able to late-reg with just one bullet. He was able to run up the top stack after Day 1 and never lost traction, as it was only a two-hour affair before he claimed the title.

"It's awesome!" Moore exclaimed after his victory. "This is my first ever WSOP event and words can't explain how I'm feeling."

While this was Moore's first ever WSOP event, he has been playing for the last decade to learn the game.

"I've been playing for about ten years now for fun (not money) just to learn the game. I've picked-up a lot from this and thought I'd give a tournament a try."

While Moore plays Texas Hold'em as well, he prefers the four-card game.

“I love poker,” stated Moore, “I’ve always loved the game, but I prefer Omaha because it’s more exciting with four cards than just two.”

With the victory, Moore was able to score $24,732, his first World Series of Poker gold ring, and a trip to the Tournament of Champions, which will be held in Las Vegas this coming summer.
