TYLER BARNES WINS 1ST WSOP CIRCUIT RING AT CHEROKEE

Barnes turned pro after losing his business during the pandemic, books his biggest career cash

After two days of poker, poker professional Tyler Barnes won Event #5: $600 No-Limit Hold'em for $39,051, a gold World Series of Poker Circuit ring and a seat into the Tournament of Champions. Barnes only recently began playing tournaments, but switched over to poker after his tech company went under during the pandemic.

"I read about the FedEx CEO who turned $4,000 into $20,000 at blackjack so I said screw it, I'm gonna try the same thing," laughed Barnes. When asked how he gets better at the game, Barnes credit some training sites and the company he keeps. "I just have friends that help me out, just guys who are better than me at poker."

Barnes' future goals include more poker and more tournaments. "Maybe win another one (ring), and I want a bracelet. I'll be happy when the legends know my name."
