RYAN WEAVER TAKES DOWN EVENT #6 IN TUNICA

Weaver tops field of 147 players to take home $12,605.

Ryan Weaver won his first career WSOP Circuit gold ring early morning Monday. He was the last man standing in the 147-player field in Event #6: $400 No-Limit Hold'em and earned $12,605, along with a spot into the 'Tournament of Champions' in Las Vegas.

The tournament was scheduled to be two-days but when just four players were remaining, they requested to hash it out until the end. It was a battle for Weaver as he was on both ends of the chip counts multiple times. After being severely short-stacked heads up against what would be runner-up George Allen he eventually claimed all of the chips to claim victory.

Like many others in this industry, Weaver started playing poker in the 'Poker Boom', around 2003 when Chris Moneymaker won the World Series of Poker. "I started playing online when poker was still legal online (in the USA), and then started playing home games with friends." Explained Weaver. "I've been playing ever since."

Weaver says he plays when he has the time and it is convenient for him and has only played about 10 or 12 live tournaments but with this victory he is planning to stick around and play the $1,700 Main Event here at Horseshoe Casino Tunica.
