SERGIO RAMIREZ WINS 5TH WSOP CIRCUIT RING

Ramirez continues his historic run at Choctaw, winning his third ring of the series

Simply put, Sergio Ramirez cannot be stopped. Two weeks ago Ramirez only had one WSOP Circuit ring to his record, certainly an accomplishment, but fast forward 14 days and he now owns five. Days before the start of the Choctaw series, Ramirez took down an online Pot-Limit Omaha event to secure his second career Circuit ring, but now having won the $600 Pot-Limit Omaha tournament, the $400 NLH event, and today's $400 NLH Double Stack, Ramirez is now knocking on the door of history.

"I continue to feel good," Ramirez said. "I made some good folds, some good bluffs, some good pickoffs. Every hand this series has felt like I had just sat down at the table all over again, like it was the very first hand every time. I've been playing in the moment, every hand feels new, and that's how I've felt the last two weeks."

Clearly in the zone, Ramirez continues to grow his already impressive win total for the series. After today's $19,860 win, his total earnings for the series has grown to a staggering $58,845.

After outlasting the field of 272 entrants, Ramirez had to play past yet another tough final table, which included three-time WSOP Circuit ring champion Rodney Spriggs. In head's-up play, Ramirez utilized his significant stack size advantage to defeat event runner-up Julie Fine, who took home the secondary prize of $12,273.

With the Choctaw series still having plenty of tournaments left, we'll see if Ramirez can continue adding to what has already been an improbable run.
